

As a concerned citizen, I strongly OPPOSE any effort by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) or its chairman Ajit Pai to repeal the Title II classification, established in 2015, that would weaken Net Neutrality Rules. This approach guts the rules safeguarding the Internet and it would render the FCC toothless to enforce strong Net Neutrality rules and other consumer protections.

Sincerely,
Todd Snyder
San Francisco, CA